

ACSI Statement on Accreditation

The end goal of our accreditation process is to help provide assurance – assurance to parents and their children who choose Christian education for their children that these schools are committed to meeting established standards, fulfilling their own mission, and engaging in continuous improvement. Our accreditation program is a highly regarded Christian program for member schools and it engages each vital constituent in a vigorous, holistic process of organizational appraisal and improvement. ACSI maintains partnerships with all of the U.S. regional accreditation agencies and offers joint accreditation with numerous accrediting organizations.
